

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The company acquires new customer through a homepage.
The company sends a request mail to an existing customer to introduce a new customer. The existing customer sends 5 information, which contains name, email address etc. of his friend or acquaintance to the company. The company sends information about the company and good, and services to this friend of the existing customer. The company accepts orders, if any, from this friend. If an order is received from this 10 friend he is registered as existing customer.